Formal Complaint and Investigation Fee

Complaints or allegations requiring a formal internal investigation – including cases escalated to online travel agencies (e.g. Booking.com, Expedia) or payment service providers – must be submitted using the hotel's Formal Complaint Form.

For such investigations, the hotel may require:

- Completion and signature of the Formal Complaint Form
- Submission of a copy of a valid passport or official photo identification
- Payment of a refundable investigation fee of CHF 200

The investigation fee covers administrative time, documentation, correspondence, and internal review, including work resulting from third-party inquiries.

If the complaint is substantiated, the investigation fee will be fully refunded.

If the complaint is unsubstantiated or unfounded, the hotel reserves the right to retain the investigation fee in whole or in part to compensate for incurred administrative costs.

The hotel reserves the right to suspend or decline further investigation until all required documentation and the investigation fee have been provided.

Termination of Accommodation Contract

In the event of a serious or repeated breach of the hotel policy or house rules, the hotel reserves the right to terminate the accommodation contract with immediate effect.

In such cases:

- The guest loses the right to remain on the hotel premises
- The guest may be required to leave the hotel immediately
- Any charges already incurred remain payable
- No entitlement to refund arises for unused accommodation, unless required by mandatory law

This measure may be taken in particular where the guest's conduct:

- Violates safety regulations
- Causes significant disturbance to other guests or staff
- Results in damage to property
- Involves deliberate or repeated disregard of hotel policies
